

Lowveld Air show-Nelspruit 2015

By Willie Bodenstein

The Lowveld Air show brought a new dimension to calendar with an action packed day filled with unique display acts and old favourites that broke away from the usual “airshow in a box” format giving the show a flavour all of its own.

Nelspruit airfield is the main operating base of Kishugu, the working on fire organisation and its fleet of Huye helicopters, spotter planes and fire bombers. Kishugu and the Mpumalanga Tourism and Parks Agency were the main sponsors of the event that has set new a standard in organisation. From the moment one entered the access road it was clear that that a lot of thought had gone into the planning of the event.

CC Pockock of Bush Air in his Cessna 172 and his pyrotechnics display

Nigel Hopkins in his MX Aircraft MX2

Skystar Aircraft Company Kitfox VII

Aero Vodochody L-29 Delfin owned by Richard Lovett

Avro RJ-85 of SA Airlink